

Heather Morefield serves as the Executive Director of Real Estate at UNC Health, where she leads strategic planning and execution for real estate operations, portfolio management, and property development initiatives. Over her 18-year tenure with UNC Health, Heather has held roles in strategic planning, finance, operations, and business development, bringing a comprehensive understanding of healthcare systems and organizational growth.

Heather earned her undergraduate degree from the University of Kentucky and a Master of Healthcare Administration from UNC Chapel Hill. She is passionate about creating innovative real estate solutions that align with UNC Health's mission and long-term goals.

Heather lives in Chapel Hill with her husband, three children, two dogs, and cat, and enjoys being an active part of her community. She recently joined the SECU Family House Board, where she contributes her experience and passion for supporting patients and families in need.