Principal Investor

Carolina Core FC

MLS NEXT Pro Independent Club

Megan Oglesby is the driving force behind Carolina Core FC, MLS NEXT Pro. As Principal Investor, Megan's passion for community has paved the way for an exciting venture that extends far beyond the soccer field. Her strategic investment aims to give opportunity to those with untapped potential while fostering economic growth throughout the region.

Megan graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in Corporate Communications from Elon University in 2009, followed by a Masters of Business Administration from High Point University in 2015. Equipped with a wealth of knowledge and expertise, she has previously served as the Senior Director of Leadership and Events, as well as Member Engagement for Business High Point - Chamber of Commerce, where she demonstrated exceptional skills in leadership and innovation.

Currently, Megan serves as the Senior Advisor to the Board of the Earl and Kathryn Congdon Family Foundation, headquartered in High Point, NC. Megan came to the foundation as its inaugural Executive Director in 2018, and during her tenure, she oversaw the development of Congdon Yards and directed over $100 million in philanthropic investment. In early 2025, Megan shifted to an internal-focused position as Senior Advisor to the Board, where she offers strategic leadership to the foundation, guiding the board and its Chief Executive Officer, Joe Blosser, on its strategic initiatives.

As a High Point native and especially since her involvement with Business High Point and the Congdon Foundation, Megan has been at the forefront of fostering positive change and improving the quality of life in the greater High Point area and beyond. Working collaboratively with the Board, she plays a key role in strategic planning, diligently shaping and refining the Foundation's initiatives to break down barriers and create opportunities for all.

Megan Oglesby lives in High Point, NC with her husband and three children.
